

GOOD VINTAGES DESERVE A WELL- KEPT WINE CELLAR

BRETSCHER & JUD AG, WEINKELLERBAU

We, Christian Bretscher and Arthur Jud, are two self-employed builders from Zumikon in Switzerland. As keen devotees of wine we have specialized in the construction and fitting out of exclusive wine cellars. At the same time we have brought about the resurrection of an old craft that had almost fallen into oblivion in our latitudes: Fair-faced brickwork using hand-moulded bricks.

Experience shows that most cellars are subject to big temperature fluctuations. Rooms like that are not suitable for the storage of noble vintages needing to be matured. The wine lover thus has two possibilities: Either he buys wine that is ready to drink but expensive, or he stores his favourite vintage somewhere else in a more suitable cellar and that brings with it increased cost and inconvenience.

Therefore we have specialized in transforming old and inappropriate cellars into mini chateau storerooms and giving new properties the personal touch with made to measure wine cellars. The cost depends on the individual conversion requirements: For example if the customer has a lot of space and decides on a luxury cellar with a cooling system, illuminated alcoves, pillars, rounded arches, vaulted ceiling, wrought iron entrance doorway decorated with grapes, brick-lined counter with racks for storing boxes, adjoining tasting room with a chimney breast or an additional party room etc. It is possible to put a functional wine cellar even into the smallest of areas. With new builds it is an advantage to have the wine cellar included at the planning stage, so that customers' requirements can be implemented without the need for compromise.

Our time is much influenced by a new sensuousness. Naturally the great art of wine drinking is part of it. Experienced wine drinkers are right when they maintain that: „A wine cellar is the place to start drinking wine!“

If you would like a perfectly crafted wine cellar or a party room, you should get in contact with us. Right from the start we will be your expert advisor and offer you the best solution, taking into account your requirements and ideas. As experts, we will bring about your greatest wish with loving care and attention to detail.
